

Consulting and blended-learning specialists

We partner with you to design blended-learning solutions that are highly relevant, performance-centric and personalised.

This includes consulting on innovative learning strategies, creative blending of classroom and online learning, customised e-learning, mobile learning, video learning and performance support tools.

Our services

We know that, ultimately, you need your learning solution to enhance performance. So, in crafting the right blend for you, we keep the end goal in mind.

Blended-learning

Developing customised blended classroom and online learning solutions that address your unique challenges and support engagement and adoption of learning.

Performance support tools

Building performance support tools for documents, processes and software applications that provide just-in-time learning in the workplace.

Learning and content strategies

Designing a strategic blueprint build around your specific learning objectives.

e-learning

Conducting a needs analysis that informs our instructional designers to develop targeted e-learning using scenarios, gamification, video, animation, audio and infographics.

Change management and communication

Partnering with you to address the change management elements of new interventions to ensure successful implementation.

Why choose Ceed Learning?

The Ceed team is made up of experienced, exceptionally skilled, creative individuals who are passionate about learning. While a passion for learning is critical to what we do, it's the care we demonstrate that sets us apart from others in the industry.
